Who is your favorite Author and why?

My favorite author is Richard Paul Evans because you can clearly understand what he is writing and he is very detailed.

What genre do you prefer to read?

The genre that I prefer is science fiction because it has all scientific topics but with less boundaries.

Where do you learn about books you might want to read in the future?

I learn about new books from family members and the library. I actually learned about my new favorite book series from my aunt.

Where do you like to read best?

The best place that I like to read is outside by a tree.

The Tales of Beedle the Bard is a collection of stories that are mentioned throughout the Harry Potter series. The tales include: “The Wizard and the Hopping Pot,” “The Fountain of Fair Fortune,” “The Warlock’s Hairy Heart,” “Babbitty Rabbitty and Her Cackling Stump,” and my personal favorite, “The Tale of the Three Brothers.”

“The Wizard and the Hopping Pot” is about a young wizard who doesn’t know a pot’s true power. When he rejects the villagers, the pot forces the wizard to help them.

“The Fountain of Fair Fortune” is about a hidden fountain that can grant wishes. Three witches and a knight set out to find it. Through many hardships, they find the fountain. During the journey, their wishes are granted without the fountain.

“The Tail of the Three Brothers” is about three brothers encountering death. Death gives them each a treasure. Two of the brothers’ gifts lead them to death, but the third gift allows another to live to an old age.

The Tales of Beedle the Bard answers many questions and provides depth to the characters. It is full of mystery, suspense and thrills. If you enjoyed the Harry Potter series, this is a must read!
