Who is your favorite Author and why?
My favorite author is Victoria Schwab; I really like the angel series..

What genre do you prefer to read?
I prefer to read drama because it gets really suspenseful wondering who is doing what.

Where do you learn about books you might want to read in the future?
I like to go to the library with my brother and sister, and find books there.

Where do you like to read best?
I like to read a little before I go to sleep, in my bed.

When is your favorite time of the day to read and why?
At night before I go to sleep.

Everyday Angel is about a girl named Gabbie who moves to a new town because of her brother Marco. Marco had gotten what the doctors called “the bad,” which was like a cancer that had spread throughout his entire body. The family moved so Marco could be close to the hospital where he could have surgery. At Gabbie’s old school, everybody felt bad for her because she had the sick brother, but now she wants a fresh start where everyone will treat her normal. Aria, an angel, soon befriends Gabbie and learns what happened to her brother, realizing it’s her job to help. If she helps Gabbie, she can earn her wings. Aria and Gabbie have their first day together and throughout that week visit different school clubs to see which one they want to join. Gabbie decides that she loves choir. Aria agrees that she is an amazing singer and is what she needs to help occupy her time and her thoughts. Later on, Aria tells Gabbie who she really is, an angel. Gabbie doesn’t know anymore if she can trust her new friend, knowing who she really is.
