A Dog's Purpose by Bruce Cameron is about a golden retriever named Baylee whose heroism plays out in the story. After his mom ran away from the yard where they lived, he is left with his baby brother and sister. Baylee was sent to Ethan's house and stayed there for about ten years until Ethan went off to college. After he realized that Ethan was not coming back, he ran away until a guy named Jacob found him on the street. Baylee worked with Jacob for the next five years in a police station and he got to go with Jacob on his rides and he even saved a few people from dying in a fire. Then after Jacob was shot by a guy who kidnapped a little girl, Baylee went to stay with Mia. He stayed with Mia for about four years, but she could not handle having a dog so she gave him away. Baylee eventually ended up finding his way back to Ethan, but by the time he got to Ethan's new house and he did not recognize Baylee. The author for this book was trying to tell us that even animals can have a purpose in life. Baylee had a purpose in life, to save people, and that is exactly what he did throughout the whole story. I honestly love this book because I love to see that even an animal can save a life and can be a companion to another person. I would recommend this book to teenagers because I honestly think that this book is very inspirational.
